Dear Dr. Miedreich,

We have recently received from T.R.C. a confidential document (D.493) which is a first draft of a scientific paper on the Harrogate experiment. This sets out in considerable detail the methods of animal husbandry, dosing procedure, diagnosis and postmortem procedure, and preparation of condensate for painting. I enclose a copy for the confidential use by the JANUS team. I am sure you will understand that under no circumstances should this document be disclosed to any other person. I believe, however, that the detailed information will be very valuable to you for the start up of the long term tests under JANUS.

Dr. Ayres recently wrote to you regarding vaccination against murine ectromelia. There is no clear statement in the enclosed document regarding this, but by implication on page 4, I have concluded that Harrogate did not vaccinate their animals. We will, however, still try to find this out.

With kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

Encl.
