

Day 2

Measures of Smoker Uptake

"Instrumental"

Section Summary:

In this section, the techniques for monitoring current and future human smoking behavior were presented. In later sections, the specific application of these techniques will be presented. The value and specific application of these techniques are best evaluated in the context of the human smoking research.

G. Read

GR/svp

1626a

100436835